

Mobile phones and accessories contain concentrations of toxic heavy metals or other metals including cadmium, lead, nickel, mercury, manganese, lithium, zinc, arsenic, antimony, beryllium, and copper.

When disposed of in a landfill site, the heavy metals leach into the water and contaminate the soil, which endangers wildlife and cause health problems such as cancer.

Where to recycle

Unwanted mobile phones, batteries, and phone chargers can be brought to any O2 and Vodafone stores across the country, as well as any recycling centre.

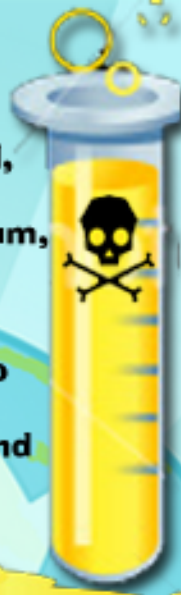

Donate your old and used mobile phones to :

The Jack & Jill Children's Foundation
Catherine@folamh.com
1850 525 545

The Irish Blue Cross
(animal care charity)
jenny@bluecross.ie

Mobile phones and accessories contain concentrations of toxic heavy metals or other metals including cadmium, lead, nickel, mercury, manganese, lithium, zinc, arsenic, antimony, beryllium, and copper.

When disposed of in a landfill site, the heavy metals leach into the water and contaminate the soil, which endangers wildlife and cause health problems such as cancer.

Where to recycle

Unwanted mobile phones, batteries, and phone chargers can be brought to any O2 and Vodafone stores across the country, as well as any recycling centre.

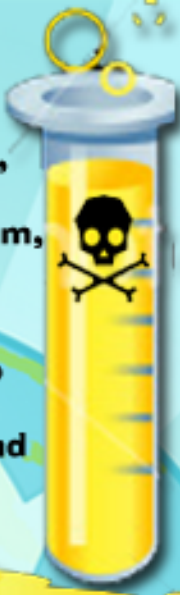

Donate your old and used mobile phones to :

The Jack & Jill Children's Foundation
Catherine@folamh.com
1850 525 545

The Irish Blue Cross
(animal care charity)
jenny@bluecross.ie

Mobile phones and accessories contain concentrations of toxic heavy metals or other metals including cadmium, lead, nickel, mercury, manganese, lithium, zinc, arsenic, antimony, beryllium, and copper.

When disposed of in a landfill site, the heavy metals leach into the water and contaminate the soil, which endangers wildlife and cause health problems such as cancer.

Where to recycle

Unwanted mobile phones, batteries, and phone chargers can be brought to any O2 and Vodafone stores across the country, as well as any recycling centre.

Donate your old and used mobile phones to :

The Jack & Jill Children's Foundation
Catherine@folamh.com
1850 525 545

The Irish Blue Cross
(animal care charity)
jenny@bluecross.ie

For more info :

www.dublinwaste.ie

For more info :

www.dublinwaste.ie

For more info :

www.dublinwaste.ie